DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

Claims 10 & 12 are pending examination as discussed below.

Information Disclosure Statement

The information disclosure statement filed on 6/18/07 has been placed in the application file and the information referred to in the English translation of the Abstract provided only has been considered as to the merits. As an English translation of the whole document was not provided, the whole document cannot be considered as to its merits with regard to the instant application.

Claim Objections

Due to the amendment, the objection of Claim 12 is withdrawn.

Claim Interpretation

Concerning the limitations of claims 10 & 12 drawn to the amount of gas generated during initial charging, these limitations are product-by-process claims since the product is claimed as a result of a process, namely an initial charging process. So even though product-by-process claims are limited by and defined by the process, determination of patentability is based on the product itself. The patentability of a product does not depend on its method of production. If the product in the product-by-process claim is the same as or obvious from a product of the prior art, the claim is unpatentable even though the prior product was made by a different process (MPEP 2113). The charging of the battery is part of the process of making the battery.

Art Unit: 1795

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102/103

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

1. Claims 10 & 12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over US Patent 5,618,640 (Idota).

Idota discloses a rechargeable lithium battery with a negative electrode consisting essentially of a carbonaceous material as the negative electrode active material and an aqueous binder mixture consisting essentially of carboxymethyl cellulose and styrene-butadiene rubber (1:15-35, 13:40-66, 20:24-27). A separator is used in the completed assembly of the battery (Fig. 2; 2:55-62). Since the battery is made in a similar manner with similar components as the claimed invention and the amount of gas generated is a property of the components of the battery, the amount of gas discharged by the battery of Idota is inherently the same as the claimed invention.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 9/7/07 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant argues Idota "teaches away from a negative electrode consisting essentially of a carbonaceous material." Applicant then shows where Idota teaches a carbonaceous negative active material (Page 5 of arguments). The performance factors pointed out by applicant do not detract from the fact that Idota teaches a negative electrode consisting essentially of carbonaceous material, as admitted by applicant in the arguments. The teachings of Idota meet the limitations of the claimed invention and therefore anticipate the claims.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
